Pricing Your Home

Primary objective: to position your home as the #1 listing in its market.

The first step towards achieving that target is to create a thoughtfully calculated pricing strategy.

Always Up-To-Speed

If there's a trend, a shift, a development or anything that might change the landscape of Ottawa's real estate market, you can trust Natalie and her team will already know about it.

They know their numbers better than anyone else. In fact, many agents in the Ottawa area regularly rely on Natalie for market information and mentorship.

So, when it comes to optimizing a pricing strategy for your home, you'll have Ottawa's most recent market data and statistics leading the way.

Your Comparative Market Analysis

Following a top-to-bottom evaluation of your home where factors such as its size, location, age, and condition are considered, Natalie and her team will present comparable current and historic listings from your local market.

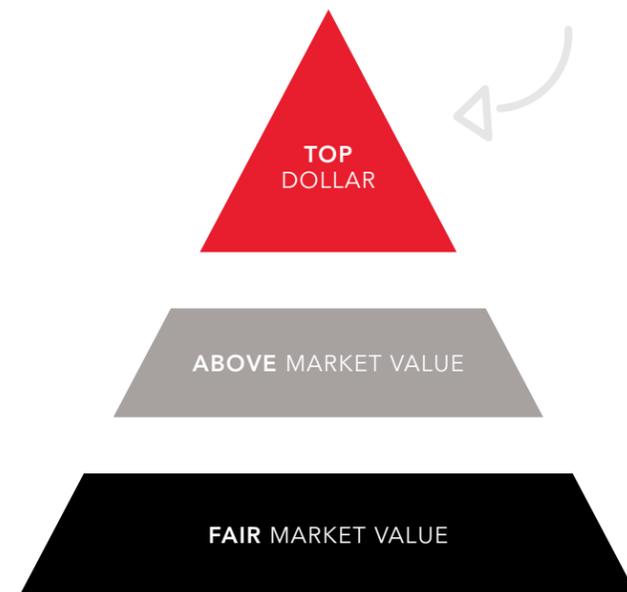

By analyzing how similar homes in your area were priced and how they performed on the market will help determine pricing strategy.

More importantly, Natalie and her team work to position your home as #1 in its market, making it the hottest new listing in your neighbourhood. Natalie's team invests in each property to ensure a seller can dictate top dollar for their home. Instead of saving a seller money, they will MAKE a seller money.

We can help you get here!

Presenting Your Options

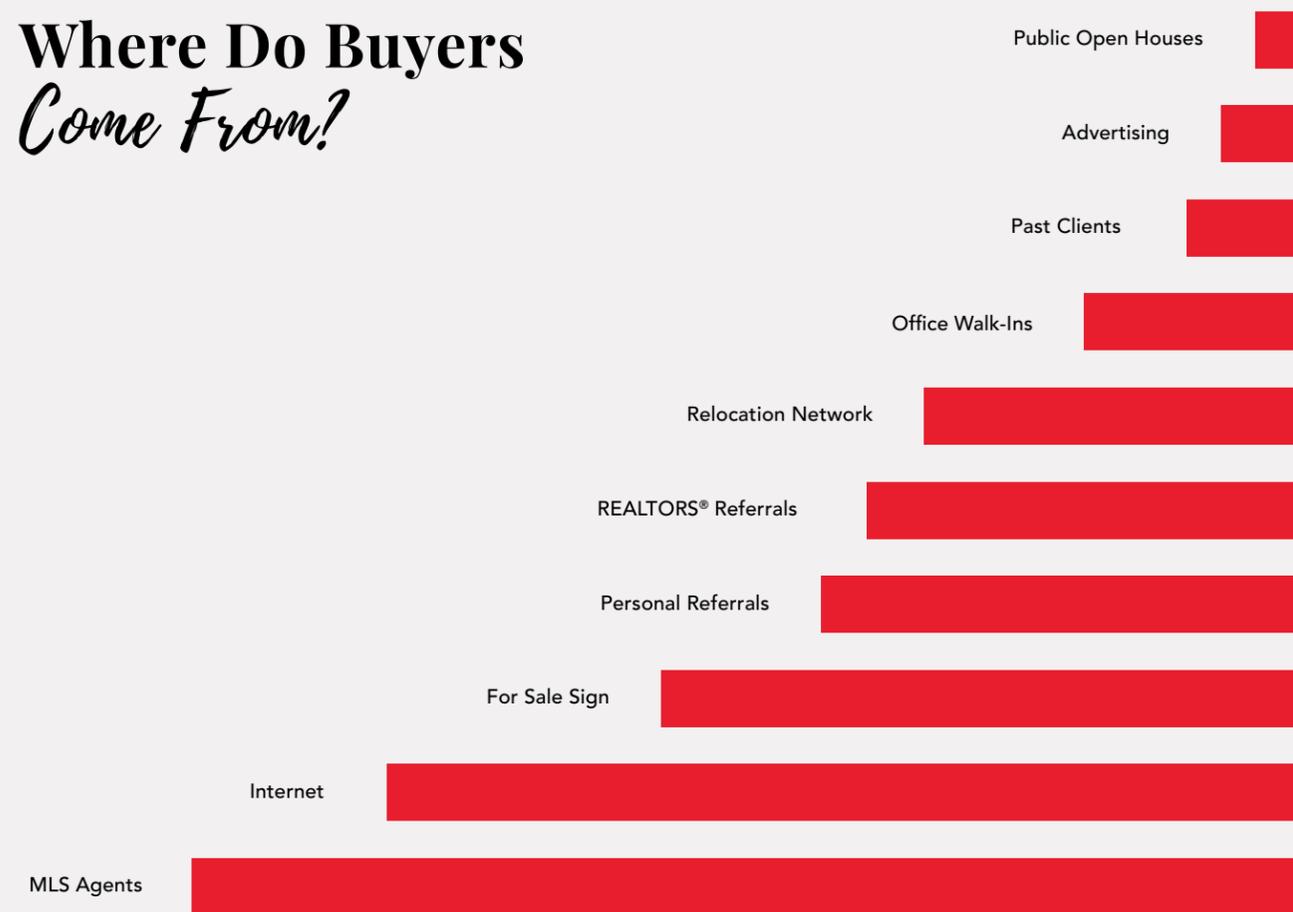

There are a variety of home selling strategies. Each home and property is unique, and Natalie and her team recognize that a home is likely a seller's biggest asset. Their goal is to protect your investment and optimize it on the market.

What is IN our Control & What is OUT of our Control?

Where Do Buyers Come From?

WHAT A SELLER CAN DO

The custom home selling plan is based on a few key factors that can strategically influence how to earn the most amount of money from the sale.

We can control:

- Home Presentation. First impressions are critical. Work with Natalie and the team to create a wow factor to set your home apart.
- Perfect Pricing. Buyers set market value. Use Natalie's research and market knowledge to price accurately.
- Availability. Buyers like to set their schedules. Be flexible, have your property available for showings.
- Professional Representation. Be represented by a respected and professional agent. Having reputable representation from our experienced team of real estate professionals is vital for both buyer and agent interactions.

WHAT A SELLER CAN'T DO

The real estate market is impacted by changes in a few core areas and can strongly influence your sale and the pricing strategy of your home.

These include:

- Economy. The Ottawa market is prone to financial, environmental and political events impacting the local real estate market.
- Competition. Other listings that come up for sale can impact the sale of your home. Levels of supply and demand play a large role.
- Unknown. As the industry learned so harshly from the events of 2020, anything can happen at any time. Be ready to reposition your home—if an unexpected factor arises, the team can act quickly.

Our goal is to have the entire market take instant notice.

Preparing Your Home

In order for your home to make a memorable entrance in the local market, the Natalie McGuire Home Team will work hard to ensure it looks its very best — both online and in person.

When selling your home, it's vital you make the most of your buyers' first impressions. That's why Natalie and her team work with you to meticulously prepare your home before it's even listed.

Staging with Experience

For Natalie and her team, decluttering, staging and home preparation is a key component to a successful home sale, and will recommend a list of services and home improvements where necessary.

Their trained eyes are able to spot where your home's strengths and weaknesses are, and know exactly how to highlight or downplay them with strategic staging and preparation techniques.

As the seller, you can rely on their experience and expertise to take the reins when preparing your home to look and feel its absolute best for buyers.

Your To-Do List

As the seller, there are tasks you can do ahead of time to prepare your home before the professionals take over.

This is the hardest work you'll have to do to your home before it's listed. Taking the time to prepare your home before launching onto the market, and also ensuring your home looks showcase-ready for each buyer visit, will help to demand top dollar.

Buyers should always value your price and product — it's not desirable to have a buyer discount a home for unfinished items or imperfections

Before

After

Commonly, this easy-to-follow preparatory list includes things like:

- Light Cleaning
- Decluttering
- Storing Personal Items Away
- Garbage Removal
- Additional Miscellaneous Presale Tasks
- Property Information Homework
- Fixing/Repairing Minor Deficiencies
